Don't Get Pushed or Pulled

You were lonely and looking for friends, when you found this new online group that invited you to join their conversation about hunting down and hurting immigrants. Should you join?

No, you should not join. Try meeting new friends in your neighborhood or at school or ask your family members for help. Providing outlets for grievances and the promise of friendship is a pull factor for hate groups trying to recruit members.

If you answered correctly, advance 5 spaces. If you answered yes, go immediately to the nearest Dead End on the board and forfeit your next turn.
